INTERVIEW OF THE WEEK

We would like to feature the interview this week with:

Name: Dr Mohammed H M Qeshta

Position: Assistant Professor in the Department of Accounting and Finance

1. Tell us about yourself: (Your childhood, academic background)

I was born and raised in Gaza, Palestine. I got my Bachelor Degree in Accounting from the Islamic University of Gaza. While in Gaza, I had worked for a CPA as an Audit Manager. In 2007, I joined University Utara Malaysia, where I got my Master & PhD Degree in Accounting in 2009 and 2010 respectively. I worked as a Research Assistant in the School of Accountancy, University Utara Malaysia. Later on, I worked as a lecturer in the University of Palestine from 2015 to 2016. I had also worked as a part time lecturer in universities; University College of Applied Sciences and Isra University in Gaza.

2. Tell us about your job at ASU

I had the pleasure to join the Department of Accounting and Finance at ASU in November 2017. I have been teaching accounting theory, accounting principles, and intermediate accounting. I am a member of different committees in the department.

The aggregate of Standards judgments will lead to an overarching judgment ‘meets quality assurance requirements’, ‘emerging quality assurance requirements’, ‘does not meet quality assurance requirements’

Standards 1, 4 and 6 are limiting judgments. In other words, if these three Standards are not met, the overall judgment will be “does not meet quality assurance requirements”

The institutional review is in many ways similar to institutional accreditation, but it relies heavily on reflective practices, implementation plans, and closing the loops. In the next following issues of the News Digest, each standard of the institutional review will be covered based on the information published by the BQA Framework for Cycle 2: Institutional Reviews
